UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA

MARIA L JIMENEZ,

Plaintiff,

v.

LV&V FUNDING, et al.,

Defendants.

Case No. 14-cv-02002-MEJ

ORDER RE: DEFAULT JUDGMENT MOTION

Re: Dkt. No. 12

On August 13, 2014, Plaintiff Maria L Jimenez filed a Motion for Default Judgment, which is currently set for a hearing on September 25, 2014. Dkt. No. 12. On August 15, 2014, the Court ordered Plaintiff to file proposed findings of fact and conclusions of law by September 3, 2014. Dkt. No. 13. The Court informed Plaintiff that her submission must be structured as outlined in Attachment A below. On September 3, 2014, Plaintiff filed her proposed findings, which do not comply with the Court's requirements. Accordingly, the Court ORDERS Plaintiff to file revised proposed findings of fact and conclusions of law by September 9, 2014. Plaintiff's submission must conform to the structure of Attachment A and include all relevant legal authority and analysis necessary to establish the case. Plaintiff is also encouraged to research previous reports and recommendations issued by the undersigned for guidance. Plaintiff is advised that default judgment will likely be denied if she fails to include all components of Attachment A in her submission.

Plaintiff shall also email the proposed findings in Microsoft Word format by September 9, 2014, to mejpo@cand.uscourts.gov. No chambers copies of the proposed findings need to be submitted.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

I. INTRODUCTION

(Relief sought and disposition.)

II. BACKGROUND

(The pertinent factual and procedural background, including citations to the Complaint and record. Plaintiff should be mindful that only facts in the Complaint are taken as true for purposes of default judgment; therefore, Plaintiff should cite to the Complaint whenever possible.)

III. DISCUSSION

Jurisdiction and Service of Process

(Include the following standard.)

In considering whether to enter default judgment, a district court must first determine whether it has jurisdiction over the subject matter and the parties to the case. In re Tuli, 172 F.3d 707, 712 (9th Cir. 1999) ("When entry of judgment is sought against a party who has failed to plead or otherwise defend, a district court has an affirmative duty to look into its jurisdiction over both the subject matter and the parties.").

1. Subject Matter Jurisdiction

(Establish the basis for the Court's subject matter jurisdiction, including citations to relevant case law and United States Code provisions.)

2. Personal Jurisdiction

(Establish the basis for the Court's personal jurisdiction, including citations to relevant legal authority, specific to each defendant. If seeking default judgment against any out-of-state defendants, this shall include a minimum contacts analysis under Schwarzenegger v. Fred Martin Motor Co., 374 F.3d 797, 802 (9th Cir. 2004)).

3. Service of Process

(Establish the adequacy of the service of process on the party against whom default is requested, including relevant provisions of Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 4.)

(Include the following standard)

Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 55(b)(2) permits a court, following default by a defendant, to enter default judgment in a case. "The district court's decision whether to enter default judgment is a discretionary one." Aldabe v. Aldabe, 616 F.2d 1089, 1092 (9th Cir. 1980). In determining whether default judgment is appropriate, the Ninth Circuit has enumerated the following factors for the court to consider: (1) the possibility of prejudice to the plaintiff; (2) the merits of plaintiff's substantive claim; (3) the sufficiency of the complaint; (4) the sum of money at stake in the action; (5) the possibility of dispute concerning material facts; (6) whether default was due to excusable neglect; and (7) the strong policy underlying the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure favoring decisions on the merits. Eitel v. McCool, 782 F.2d 1470, 1471-72 (9th Cir. 1986). Where a default judgment is granted, the scope of relief is limited by Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 54(c), which states that a "default judgment must not differ in kind from, or exceed in amount, what is demanded in the pleadings." Upon entry of default, all factual allegations within the complaint are accepted as true, except those allegations relating to the amount of damages. TeleVideo Sys., Inc. v. Heidenthal, 826 F.2d 915, 917-18 (9th Cir. 1987).

C. Application to the Case at Bar

(A detailed analysis of each individual Eitel factor, separated by numbered headings. Factors 2 (merits of substantive claims) and 3 (sufficiency of complaint) may be listed and analyzed under one heading. Plaintiff shall include citations to cases that are factually similar, preferably within the Ninth Circuit.)

Relief Sought D.

(An analysis of any relief sought, including a calculation of damages, attorneys' fees, etc., with citations to relevant legal authority. As damages alleged in the complaint are not accepted as true, the proposed findings must provide citations to evidence supporting the requested damages. If attorneys' fees and costs are sought, the proposed findings shall include the following: (1) Evidence supporting the request for hours worked, including a detailed breakdown and identification of the subject matter of each person's time expenditures, accompanied by actual billing records and/or time sheets; (2) Documentation justifying the requested billing rates, such as a curriculum vitae or resume; (3) Evidence that the requested rates are in line with those prevailing in the community, including rate determinations in other cases of similarly complex litigation, particularly those setting a rate for the plaintiff's attorney; and (4) Evidence that the requested hours are reasonable, including citations to other cases of similarly complex litigation (preferably from this District)).

IV. CONCLUSION

(Disposition, including any specific award amount(s) and judgment.)
